LOISABA CONSERVANCY

TRAVEL POST COVID-19

NATURE NEVER STOPS

As the world came to a standstill earlier this year nature has taken this time to heal and rejuvenate.

The wildlife population on the Lewa-Borana Landscape and Loisaba Conservancy is becoming year on year more extraordinary and more diverse. The Laikipia Ewaso Eco System holds the highest diversity of large mammal species of any site of its size in the world.

These areas of biodiversity and of great importance to the wellbeing of our planet. A significant part of overall conservation funding is generated by tourism and we hope that the guidelines in the following document will help to encourage guests to return in a post-COVID era.

Conservation must continue, and can do so with your help.

HEALTH & SAFETY

Being in this wild, spacious environment and close to the natural world will transport you to a place of calm and hope.

With the ever present COVID threat, the lodges of the Lewa-Borana landscape and Loisaba Conservancy are working together in order to put stringent measures in place. When you visit your only concern will be to immerse yourself into the magic that is northern Kenya.

All properties on Lewa-Borana and Loisaba will enforce requisite social distancing protocols as well as health protocols as set by the Kenyan Government and the WHO.

We will ensure that as soon as you step foot on these conservation areas, you will be provided with the essential hygiene products to maintain a COVID-safe environment.

The following set of protocols and regulations are what we, as a landscape, have agreed to uphold to ensure a safe and relaxing experience.

We insist that all visitors to the Lewa-Borana Landscape and Loisaba Conservancy have full AMREF cover or other adequate cover which allows for medical evacuation.
